What they do:

Staff Services Analysts (SSA) perform analytical work in all branches of the Department.

In this classification, employees perform work in one or more areas of a broad range of governmental and managerial responsibilities that are commensurate with their background and training. The position can encompass program evaluation and planning, systems development, budgeting, planning, training, management, and personnel analysis, among others.

SSAs perform analytical studies; consult with departmental officials and employees; prepare reports and provide recommendations on procedures, policies, and program alternatives; and review and analyze proposed legislation to advise management.

What you need to qualify:

Minimum qualifications for entry into a Staff Services Analyst position include equivalency to graduation from college (preferably with specialization in related area). Under specific circumstances, work experience in California State service may be substituted for the required education, or six months of experience performing the duties of a Budget Technician, or six months of experience performing the duties of a Management Services Technician, Occupational Technician, or Business Service Assistant, or one year of experience in California State service performing the duties of a class at a level of responsibility equivalent to a Program Technician II, Office Services Supervisor, or Office Technician with 12 semester or 18 quarter units of related college courses.
